Postpigmentation recommendations Eyebrows

Pigmentation causing a small break in the skin, the care to be provided must begin the same day to avoid any complications.

Do not expose your skin to the sun or UVs for a week, if necessary, wear glasses that cover your eyebrows.

Avoid getting water on your eyebrows for the first 24 hours. Avoid submersion in water while showering.

Avoid any source of irritation or infection, heat, humidity, sauna, steam room, swimming pool, hair dryer, bath etc.

Before starting any treatment, make sure you have clean hands.

Do not apply eyebrow cream or exfoliator or harsh cleanser during the healing process (5-10 days).

Do not apply makeup to the pigmented area for 5 to 7 days.

Sports activities such as weight training, aerobics should be postponed for a few days after the procedure.

Once the micro pigmentation is done, the pigment begins to oxidize and this for 3-4 days, which makes the pigment darker, the initial color returns after a few days. The resistance of the pigments depends on the implantation but especially on your immune system.

Average hold is 18 months, but color may change, touch-up is needed every 12 months.

Do not scratch the area, do not tear off the small scales that may form, it may damage the skin or lead to loss of color.

If you have swelling or pain, you can apply ice.

Cleanse only with cool water and do not apply makeup to the treated area for the first week.

No cream is needed.

In case of tightness, apply petroleum jelly.

It is normal to have swelling about 2 to 4 days after treatment, also to have small scabs and a feeling of tightness for 1 to 2 weeks.

If you have any other symptoms, please contact us.

The pigments are suitable for the face and are not permanent like tattoo ink.

The sun, extreme cold, repeated exfoliations, retinol, certain medications, Fish oil in omega-3 are examples of factors that can reduce the longevity of permanent makeup or microblading.

Very important to follow the recommendations to ensure optimal results
